Dream A Dream

Wednesday 24 October

Guide: Dani Margolis

Save the Date

Our October tiyul will follow the footsteps of Israeli poets and poetry about Israel. Susan Olsburgh, who leads our monthly Poetry meetings at Netanya AACI will accompany the tour.

*Of my Kinneret,
Oh my Kinneret.
Did you exist?
Or did I dream a dream.*

Rachel Bluwstein

After a short stop on our way out of Netanya we head north to S'dot Yam to hear about Hannah Senesh.

We will continue on to the Kinneret Courtyard (Hatzer Kinneret), the beating heart of the Second Aliyah at the turn of the 20th century. Young people fleeing from pogroms arrived in a desolate country with the cherished dream of establishing a national home for the Jewish people by the work of their own hands. From these humble beginnings, but based on the firm principles of self-reliance, equality, social justice and co-operation, the Yishuv emerged as the cornerstone of the Kibbutz and Moshav Movements which became the foundations of the emerging new State.

A short distance from the Courtyard is the Kinneret Cemetery where many pioneers and leaders of the Labour movement are buried, including Berl Katznelson, Moses Hess and Nachman Syrkin. Located on the shore of the lake, many come here to pay homage to the Hebrew poet, Rachel Bluwstein, and musician and songwriter, Naomi Shemer. After our lunch break there will be a short poetry session, inspired by the poets featured in our day.

On our way home we will visit Binyamina to hear about Ehud Manor.
